Injections

- Methylcobolamin (B12): Pernicious anemia, which prevents absorption of B12 and/or MTHFR is a genetic mutation that reduces my ability to methylate nutrients in my body, including B12, which is important for nerve and brain function and healing. Receiving injections of methylated B12 may help prevent problems caused by reduced absorption of B12 including depression, neuropathy and eventually dementia. Methylated B12 is water soluble and my body will use what it needs and remove what it doesn't need.
- Benzyl Vitamin (D3): Pernicious anemia, which prevents absorption of D3, and/or MTHFR is a genetic mutation that reduces my ability to methylate nutrients in my body, including D3, which is important for nerve and brain function and healing. Receiving injections of methylated D3 may help prevent problems caused by reduced absorption of D3 including depression, neuropathy and eventually dementia. Methylated D3 is water soluble and my body will use what it needs and remove what it doesn't need.
- MICC: MICC injections once or twice weekly while dieting allows the patient to lose an additional 1-2 pounds per week. MICC injections have been used successfully in combination with weight loss programs. The MICC injection consists of a combination of "B" Essential Vitamins, including B-1, 2, 3, 5, 6, and 12, and other essential amino acids, which are not readily available from the food we eat or is not being produced by our body. MICC injections are safe, give energy when reducing caloric intake, and is often used in diet plans that initiates additional weight loss and enhancing weight loss results.

Weight & Wellness Support

At Infinity Medical Clinic, we offer a comprehensive, physician-led approach to help you achieve and maintain a healthy weight—without relying on medication. Our goal is to uncover the root causes of weight gain and guide you toward lasting lifestyle changes that support your overall well-being.

- First appointment: Your journey begins with an in-depth consultation with Dr. Stemmerman. We'll discuss your health goals, medical and family history, and complete lab work to check for any underlying conditions that may be affecting your weight. This appointment is typically submitted to insurance.
- Second appointment: We'll review your lab results and develop a personalized wellness plan tailored to your needs. This may include guidance on nutrition, exercise, stress management, and sleep—all key factors in achieving a healthy weight.
- Ongoing Support: Follow-up visits every few months allow us to assess your progress, adjust your plan, and offer continued encouragement and accountability. We are here to support you every step of the way with tools and education that empower you to take control of your health.
